HOLY MASS

FRATELLI TUTTI. TESTIMONIES OF OPERATIONAL FRIENDSHIP IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF POPE FRANCIS

Ore 15:00 Auditorium isybank D3

His Eminence Cardinal Matteo Zuppi, President of CEI, Archbishop of Bologna, in dialogue with Alberto Bonfanti, President of Portofranco; Vittorio Bosio, President of CSI; Regina De Albertis, Technical Director and Delegate Councilor of Borio Mangiarotti S.p.A., President of Assimpredil Ance Milan, Lodi, Monza, and Brianza; Dario Odifreddi, President of Piazza dei Mestieri and President of the Consortium of Work Schools. Moderated by Bernhard Scholz, President of Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS.

In his encyclical "Fratelli tutti," Pope Francis has summarized in a particularly profound way his proposals and exhortations to promote "fraternity and social friendship." Ten years after his election, we want to listen and engage in dialogue with experiences that can testify to the fruitfulness of this central message of his pontificate, particularly in education and integration. Building upon these testimonies, the dialogue with Cardinal Matteo Maria Zuppi, President of CEI, will highlight fundamental aspects for the construction of social friendship and peace in a world increasingly marked by loneliness, inequalities, fragmentation, and conflicts.

INEXHAUSTIBLE FRIENDSHIPS. DOROTHY DAY AND SOCIAL FRIENDSHIP

Ore 17:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Simona Beretta, Director of the University Center for the Social Doctrine of the Church and Responsible Director of the Journal "Dizionario di dottrina sociale della Chiesa," Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore; Robert Ellsberg, Collaborator and curator of the autobiography Dorothy Day Ho trovato Dio attraverso i suoi poveri (ed. Lev); Giulia Galeotti, Journalist and author of "Siamo una rivoluzione. Vita di Dorothy Day". Moderated by Francesco Magni, Researcher of General and Social Pedagogy at the University of Bergamo.

This event focuses on Dorothy Day (1897-1980), the co-founder of the Catholic Worker Movement in New York in 1933. Dorothy Day was a versatile and outgoing personality, known as a journalist, writer, and activist for social rights. Her conversion to Catholicism and her life filled with dramatic events, joys, sorrows, successes, and misunderstandings make her particularly relevant to the struggles and challenges faced by men and women today. This discussion aims to rediscover her figure and reflect on why it is still worth living for an ideal, shedding tears, loving, suffering, and building something good for oneself and others, starting with the poorest and most abandoned, always guided by the discovery of faith, the unique dynamic of love that generates voluntary poverty, courage, humility, and charity, which we all, deep down, feel the need for.

A FRIENDSHIP THAT OPENS TO THE WORLD. GIOVANNI TESTORI, 100 YEARS SINCE HIS BIRTH

Ore 17:00 Sala Neri Generali

Riccardo Bonacina, Journalist; Angela Demattè, Playwright and actress; Emilia Guarnieri, Co-founder of the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli. Moderated by Davide Dall'Ombra, Director of Casa Testori Cultural Association.

In March 1978, an article by Giovanni Testori on the Via Fani massacre published in Corriere della Sera caught the attention of some university students from the Communion and Liberation movement. They asked to meet him, and this encounter in his Milanese studio at Via Brera 8 marked the beginning of a great friendship. This friendship was also very "operational" from a human and cultural perspective, encompassing theater, collaboration with the Sabato magazine, participation in the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli from its first edition, and a special bond with don Giussani. Riccardo Bonacina, who witnessed that first meeting, and Emilia Guarnieri, who witnessed Testori's presence at the Meeting, along with Angela Demattè, who didn't know Testori personally but, as a playwright and actress, documented the fruits of that friendship and mentorship through her experience, will discuss the impact and legacy of this friendship.

WORK: A VOCATION?

Ore 17:00 Sala Ferrovie dello Stato B2

In collaboration with Cdo

Lucia Albano, Undersecretary of the Ministry of Economy and Finance; Stefania Brancaccio, General Secretary of UCID; Sonia Malaspina, HR Director of Danone Italy & Greece; Alberto Paltrinieri, Paltrinieri Winery, Modena; Enzo Porzio, Paranza Cooperative, Naples. Moderated by Andrea Dellabianca, President of Compagnia delle Opere Milano.

What is expected from work today? Is salary no longer enough, or is it about the career? Older people say that young ones are fragile, while the young claim to want something different, demanding better conditions. Or perhaps they no longer wish to build? The pandemic has brought about a revolution in work relationships and our relationship with work. However, it's not just about new business and personal strategies, nor is it solely about generational differences. For everyone, work is a test of the substance of their own life. What does work mean? What fulfills me? Why is it worth making sacrifices to work and fulfill oneself? These questions will be discussed by the Undersecretary of Economy and Finance, the Secretary-General of the Christian Union of Entrepreneurs and Managers, along with the HR Manager of a large multinational group, an entrepreneur successfully running their family-owned winery, and a young person from an innovative cooperative that has created employment opportunities in Naples.

ENERGY COMMUNITIES AND ENERGY POVERTY: THE DEMOCRATIZATION OF ENERGY

Ore 17:00 Sala Conai A2

Michele Emiliano, President of the Puglia Region; Fabrizio Iaccarino, Head of Sustainability and Institutional Affairs Enel Italy; Most Reverend Monsignor Filippo Santoro, Emeritus Archbishop of Taranto, Special Delegate of the Holy Father for the Memores Domini; Mario Antonio Scino, Chief of Staff of the Minister of the Environment and Energy Security. Moderated by Giuliano Frosini, Professor at Luiss Business School.

This meeting focuses on the role of energy communities in promoting equitable access to energy and combating energy poverty. Knowledge and perspectives will be shared on energy communities as a tool to democratize energy, fostering active citizen participation and decentralized production of renewable energy. Additionally, the issue of energy poverty will be addressed, exploring innovative solutions to ensure access to energy for all, with particular attention to sustainability and social justice. The goal is to achieve a more equitable, inclusive, and

ERASE CULTURES OR BUILD CULTURE?

Ore 19:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Sergio Belardinelli, Full Professor of Sociology of Cultural and Communicative Processes, University of Bologna; François-Xavier Bellamy, Member of the European Parliament, French philosopher and intellectual; Joseph H.H. Weiler, University Professor at NYU Law School and Senior Fellow at the Center for European Studies at Harvard. Moderated by Andrea Simoncini, Vice President of Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS, Constitutional Law Professor, University of Florence.

The culture of cancellation, also known as "cancel culture," is a disturbing and overwhelming phenomenon. This expression refers to the widespread tendency, present not only on the internet but also in many physical social environments, to remove or "cancel" individuals, companies, books, and films that are deemed guilty of promoting values contrary to minority rights, gender equality, equality in general, and what is referred to as "political correctness." From the world of cinema to universities, from schools to cultural spaces, there is a growing push to eliminate thoughts and ideas—and especially the people who hold them—considered contrary to the basic principles of coexistence, common values, and fundamental freedoms. The paradox is that in defending freedom, the right to express oneself is denied. It is an absolute failure of education to have to "cancel" someone or something so that certain ideas do not spread—assuming that it is always right and indisputable to cancel them. To discuss this terrible paradox, which puts contemporary freedom at risk of self-destruction, three prominent figures will participate: Sergio Belardinelli, sociologist; Joseph Weiler, jurist; and Francois-Xavier Bellamy, Member of the European Parliament.

NUCLEAR FUSION: THE ENERGY OF THE STARS FOR THE FUTURE OF THE PLANET

Ore 19:00 Sala Neri Generali

Organized by Euresis Association.

Ambrogio Fasoli, Director of the Swiss Plasma Center (Ecole Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne), Lausanne, President of the EUROfusion Consortium; Marcella Marconi, Director of the Capodimonte Astronomical Observatory, National Institute of Astrophysics, Naples. Moderated by Carlo Sozzi, Institute for Plasma Science and Technology, National Research Council, Milan.

The burning of the Sun during our days and the shining of the stars at night are spectacles we can witness daily, often without asking ourselves what we are truly observing. However, the question of what is happening before our eyes has led to one of the most fruitful and surprising scientific paths of the past two centuries, with enormous potential for application: nuclear fusion. This is the energy source of the stars and, ultimately, of every source of energy available on our Earth. The study of the physical processes that cause the birth and evolution of stars, which govern their luminosity, is rich in knowledge about our Universe. On the other hand, the success of attempts to reproduce and control nuclear fusion in the laboratory to harness the enormous amount of energy it would provide is a valuable contribution to solving one of the most urgent problems of our time. Two protagonists of these fascinating scientific endeavors will show us "where we are."

SKILLS, TALENTS, AND PARTICIPATION IN WORK

Ore 19:00 Sala Conai A2

Marco Ceresa, Group Chief Executive Officer of Randstad Italy; Manuela Kron, Director Corporate Affairs & Marketing Consumer Communication of the Nestlé Group in Italy; Mauro Nori, Chief of Staff of the Ministry of Labor and Social Policies; Luigi Sbarra, General Secretary of CISL; Stefano Scaroni, CEO of Deles Group. Moderated by Cesare Pozzoli, Labor Law Attorney.

The current shortage of skilled workers and competencies affects companies worldwide. There are multiple factors that have contributed to this phenomenon in recent years: the inability of work to fully satisfy personal fulfillment, misalignment with reference values, flexibility and work-life balance, frustrated professional ambitions, and difficulties in adapting to technological changes. How can we act to respond promptly to new demands and needs in order to attract and retain talent?

HOSPITALITY: THE FRUIT OF FRIENDSHIP

Ore 21:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Monsignor Massimo Camisasca, Emeritus Bishop of Reggio Emilia - Guastalla; Silvio Cattarina, Founder and President of L'Imprevisto Social Cooperative; Catia Petta, Foster Family; Luca Sommacal, President of the Association of Families for Hospitality; Jimmy Tamba, Coordinator of the Distance Support project for Avsi in Freetown, Sierra Leone. Moderated by Martina Saltamacchia, Distinguished Associate Professor of Medieval History at the University of Nebraska, Omaha. This event offers a valuable opportunity to explore the link between hospitality and friendship, thanks to the testimonies of some witnesses and the reflection on the theme entrusted to Monsignor Camisasca. Hospitality, which can take various forms and situations such as adoption, foster care, and the welcoming of migrants, war refugees, or people fleeing natural disasters and extraordinary events, as well as young people struggling with various dependencies, arises from a constitutive and deep relationship: friendship. Friendship always arises from an unforeseen encounter and sharing. It can generate lasting, meaningful, and ever-new relationships and is a source of hope in the face of situations and adversities that deeply challenge the human heart.

Shows - Sunday 20 August

MONSIEUR IBRAHIM AND THE FLOWERS OF THE QUR'AN

Ore 21:30 Teatro Galli

By Eric-Emmanuel Schmitt, with Sergio Rubini and Simone Zanchini on the accordion, direction Otello Cenci.

In the intricate crossroads of a popular Parisian neighborhood where the names of the streets taste like fables (rue Bleue, rue de Paradis), the teenager Momo lives with a father sunk in a silent and gloomy depression. In the same neighborhood lives Monsieur Ibrahim, the only Arab in a "Jewish" street, owner of the grocery store where Momo goes for his daily shopping and occasionally doesn't hesitate to sneak a few cans of preserves. This is how the story of friendship begins, woven with irony, innocence, and profound wisdom, between the Jewish boy and the elderly "Arab." Like in a fable or a parable that doesn't intend to give moral lessons but only to propose a dream to decipher, the two protagonists embark on a journey towards the wider world, towards a freedom that makes them climb upwards, guided by that art of smiling at life enclosed in the precious flowers of the Quran. The unmistakable narrating voice of Sergio Rubini brings this tale of deep friendship to life, accompanied by the accordion notes of Simone Zanchini, one of the most innovative musicians on the international scene. In collaboration with Comune di Rimini and Sagra Musicale Malatestiana.

THE STRANGERS

Ore 21:30 Palco Spettacoli Piscine Ovest Illumia

The Strangers were born following the proposal of some young music enthusiasts, strangers (hence the name of the band), to play together during a summer vacation. From that way of being together, a staff of 15 elements was born surprisingly, coming from Veneto, Lombardy and Trentino.

Their concerts have only one goal: to make people dance! The vast repertoire, which ranges from Funk to Disco, from Rock and Roll to Pop, with the addition of their unpublished works such as "The best is yet to come", will involve the entire audience of the Meeting.

Meetings - Monday 21 August

SUPPORTING DEVELOPMENT. NEW POLICIES FOR AN INNOVATIVE ECONOMY

Ore 12:00 Auditorium isybank D3

In collaboration with Fondazione per la Sussidiarietà.

Dialogue with Stefano Barrese, Head of the Banca dei Territori division at Intesa Sanpaolo; Maria Bianca

Farina, President of Ania; Francesco Mutti, CEO of Mutti Spa and President of Centromarca. With the participation of Giancarlo Giorgetti, Minister of Economy and Finance. Moderated by Giorgio Vittadini, President of the Foundation for Subsidiarity.

Optimists and pessimists confront each other on the economic development of Italy. Two underlying themes are at the core of the daily debate. The first one: how to measure this development. Is it sufficient to look at GDP, or should we consider a type of development that takes into account the overall well-being of the nation, including education, healthcare, and welfare, measurable with new tools such as the BES (Benessere Equo e Sostenibile - Sustainable and Equitable Well-being)? The second one: is it still the time for laissez-faire and the invisible hand, or is it time for a new strategic role of the State as a support to the business world? After a dialogue among protagonists of the Italian economic life, Minister of Economy and Finance Giorgetti will shed light on the subject.

A DIALOGUE BETWEEN PHYSICS AND LITERATURE

Ore 13:00 Sala Neri Generali

Juan José Gómez Cadenas, Physicist at the Ikerbasque Foundation, Donostia International Physics Center; Luca Doninelli, Writer. Moderated by Marco Bersanelli, Professor of Physics and Astrophysics, University of Milan.

Science and poetry are sometimes considered as two separate worlds, almost two narratives of reality that are incompatible with each other. However, in the distinction of the underlying questions and the methods that are employed, they have more in common than is commonly thought: both require a deep attention to reality, a willingness to discover what is new and unexpected, a desire for synthesis and effective communication. Through their testimonies, two established figures, a physicist and a writer, will lead us to the discovery of how in the 21st century the humanistic dimension and the scientific dimension can meet and coexist, without merging with each other, but rather uncovering the traits of their complementarity and the deep root from which both arise.

FRIENDSHIP IN THE BIBLE

Ore 13:00 Sala Conai A2

Joseph H.H. Weiler, University Professor at NYU Law School and Senior Fellow at the Center for European Studies at Harvard. Introducing Stefano Alberto, Professor of Theology, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore.

The Bible explicitly speaks about friendship and also provides some luminous examples, each different from the other. In the traditional event "Reading the Bible with Joseph Weiler," we will examine both aspects. Here are some examples of explicit teachings: A friend loves at all times and a brother is born for adversity (Proverbs 17:17). There are companions who lead to ruin, but there are also friends who are more loyal than a brother (Proverbs 18:24). Faithful are the wounds of a friend, deceitful are the kisses of an enemy. The fragrance of incense brings joy to the heart, and the sweetness of a friend soothes the soul (Proverbs 27:6,9). And here are some examples of deep friendships: Ruth and Naomi, David and Jonathan, and of course Jesus and his apostles: "You are my friends if you do what I command. I no longer call you servants because a servant does not know his master's business. Instead, I have called you friends, for everything that I learned from my Father I have made known to you" (John 15:14-15).

THE MARKETS AND THE FOOD OF THE CITIES OF THE FUTURE

Ore 14:00 Spazio Internazionale C3

Giaime Berti, co-chair Resilient Local Food Supply Chains Alliance; Massimo Pallottini, President Italmercati; Andrea Calori, President EStà - Economy and Sustainability; Fabrizio Marzulli, Deputy Mayor of Taranto. Moderated by Carmelo Troccoli, General Director of the World Farmer Market Coalition.

HUMAN EXISTENCE IS AN INEXHAUSTIBLE FRIENDSHIP

Ore 15:00 Auditorium isybank D3

H.E. Monsignor Giuseppe Baturi, Metropolitan Archbishop of Cagliari and Secretary General of the Italian Episcopal Conference. Introducing Bernhard Scholz, President of the Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS.

This year's Meeting aims to rediscover friendship, its origin, its creative strength, and the good that can arise from it for everyone. Friendship has always been considered one of the highest expressions of human relationships, where trust, support, and love become mutual. In the Christian experience, the relationship with God himself takes the form of an "inexhaustible friendship" that has the vocation to become a catalyst for more humane relationships in an increasingly fragmented society and a prophecy for peace in a world marked by violence and wars.

INEXHAUSTIBLE FRIENDSHIPS. DON PINO PUGLISI, THE TESTIMONY OF MARTYRDOM

Ore 17:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Antonio Balsamo, Magistrate; H.E. Monsignor Corrado Lorefice, Archbishop of Palermo. Introducing Salvatore Taormina, Cultural Editorial Staff of the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli. Moderated by Vincenzo Morgante, Director of TV2000. Thirty years after the murder of blessed Pino Puglisi, which took place at the hands of the mafia on September 15, 1993, this meeting aims to focus on the defining characteristics of his martyrdom. Through the contribution of authoritative voices from the ecclesiastical, judicial, and media contexts, the event will retrace the key moments of a human and priestly testimony that remains relevant, in which Christian resistance against the mafia has taken on the specific and primary role of passionate educational action, particularly directed towards the younger generations, driven by a constant commitment to the truth of the individual and their social bonds.

EUROPE OF STATES OR EUROPE OF REGIONS?

Ore 17:00 Sala Neri Generali

Francesco Acquaroli, President of the Marche Region; Sergio Emidio Bini, Councillor for Productive Activities and Tourism Friuli Venezia Giulia Region; Donatella Tesei, President of the Umbria Region; Mario Tonina, Vice President of the Autonomous Province of Trento. Moderated by Andrea Simoncini, Vice President of the Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS, Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Florence.

For over forty years, the Meeting in Rimini has been inspired by two values considered essential: Europeanism and regionalism. On one hand, regions and Europe represent the two directions of growth and development in our Republic. On the other hand, these two tensions - supranationality and regionalism - are not antithetical, but just like the fundamental relationships of growth in a person, they represent the fundamental relationships of growth. Both of these directions seem to be under discussion today - as seen, for example, in the two proposed constitutional reforms currently being discussed: one aimed at restoring national sovereignty against European sovereignty, and the other introducing the so-called "differentiated regionalism." What is the future, then, of "regionalism" in the European perspective? To address this topic, several presidents of regions and the Autonomous Province of Trento are convening in Rimini, as a regular summer appointment, to revitalize the experience of regional governance, called upon by the Meeting to measure themselves against the broader horizon of European integration.

FRIENDSHIP AMONG CULTURES. CULTURES THAT NURTURE FRIENDSHIP

Ore 17:00 Sala Ferrovie dello Stato B2

In cooperation with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation Ahmed bin Rakkad Al Ameri, Chairman of the Sharjah Book Authority (SBA); Antonella Sciarrone Alibrandi, Undersecretary of the Dicastery for Culture and Education and Professor of Economics Law at Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore; Maria Tripodi, Undersecretary of State for Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation. Welcome speech by Luca Beccari, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, International Economic Cooperation, and Telecommunications of the Republic of San Marino. Introduced by Bernhard Scholz, President of the Meeting Foundation for Friendship among Peoples ETS. Moderated by Wael Farouq, Professor of Arabic Language and Literature at Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore. On one hand, globalization has brought different cultures closer together; however, in some expressions, it has also contributed to their relativization. Yet, it is precisely the authenticity of each religious and cultural expression that makes it interesting and often fascinating. It is not flattening, but in-depth exploration that enriches the encounter between cultures and makes it valuable for everyone. The visit of the Meeting Foundation to the Sharjah International Book Fair (SIBF), one of the largest book fairs globally, was an extraordinary experience of this friendship between cultures. Together with Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, which has been collaborating with the Sharjah Book Fair, and the founder of the Kalam Foundation, we aim to document the possibility of friendship between cultures that nurture friendship themselves. In this context, the perspective and actions implemented by International Cooperation as drivers of development, enrichment of relationships, and active support for culture are fundamental.

WORK GENERATION. UNDERSTANDING THE CHANGES

Ore 17:00 Sala Conai A2

Organized by Foundation for Subsidiarity.

Marina Calderone, Minister of Labor and Social Policies; Piero Cipollone, Deputy Director General of the Bank of Italy; Mario Mezzanzanica, Professor of Computer Science and Engineering, University of Milano-Bicocca, Labor Department of Fondazione per la Sussidiarietà; Massimo Monacelli, General Manager of Generali Italia. Giorgio Vittadini, President of Fondazione per la Sussidiarietà. Hosted by Enrico Castelli and Irene Elisei.

Work in recent decades has been undergoing significant changes, starting with the relevance of corporate welfare. It's not only about structural aspects but also its meaning. The situation of young people, women, and especially immigrants is emblematic. The 2023 Talk of the Subsidiarity Foundation will focus on this topic. The first episode will outline the institutional framework, the context, and the issues around which the debate revolves. Services and in-depth analyses will enliven the dialogue.

THE TASTE OF EVERYDAY LIFE. WORK AND SELF-FULFILLMENT, FROM SAN BENEDETTO TO TODAY

Ore 18:00 Spazio Internazionale C3

Stefano Berni, General Manager, Consortium for the Protection of Grana Padano; Alessio Mammi, Councilor for Agriculture and Agri-food, Hunting and Fishing of the Emilia-Romagna Region; Roberto Ravaioli, Curator of the Exhibition "The Taste of Everyday Life. Work and Self-Fulfillment, from San Benedetto to Today"; Diego Remelli, President of Goito Get Up; Fabio Saini, CEO and Technical Director of Laica Spa. Moderated by Camillo Gardini, President of Compagnia delle Opere Agroalimentare.

Is it possible to live a fulfilling work life aligned with one's desires? What can foster creativity and positivity in individuals when facing the reality in a context of widespread uncertainty? These are the questions that permeate the entire journey of the exhibition "Il gusto del quotidiano" (The Taste of Everyday Life), an immersive and engaging exploration that reinterprets the current crisis by drawing parallels with another major crisis, the aftermath of the fall of the Western Roman Empire. Speakers will engage in a discussion on these questions, drawing from their own experiences in the realm of work.

LOOKING AT REALITY, EMBRACING MEANING

Ore 19:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Vincent Carraud, Philosopher and historian of French philosophy, Full Professor of History of Modern Philosophy, University of Paris IV-Sorbonne, Paris; Costantino Esposito, Full Professor of History of Philosophy, University of Bari Aldo Moro. Moderated by Alessandra Stoppa, Director of Tracce.

The search for meaning, the question of why we exist in the world, constitutes the original nature of our self. And it is a dynamic that is not easily reduced to a subjective idea or a mental image: it is the most objective "fact" of our being, a real given within us. In fact, we must faithfully follow it to realize our lives. This is the first "friendship" with being that reveals itself in our existence: we are made to find satisfaction for our questions and desires. But thanks to this, we can understand the friendship that binds us to the heart of every other human being. "Let us work, therefore, to think well: this is the principle of morality," as written by Blaise Pascal, the great philosopher whose 400th birth anniversary is celebrated this year and who has Vincent Carraud as one of his most important contemporary interpreters.

JANNACCI, TESTORI, GABER. THE PERIPHERIES OF OUR HEART

Ore 19:00 Sala Neri Generali

Giuseppe Frangi, Journalist, Casa Testori Cultural Association; Paolo Jannacci, Musician. Moderated by Massimo Bernardini, Journalist. With a performance by Michele Maccagno, Actor, and Andrea Mirò, Musician.

Three anniversaries connect these protagonists of Milanese life: the 100th anniversary of Testori's birth, the 20th and 10th anniversaries of the deaths of Giorgio Gaber and Enzo Jannacci, respectively. But there is another important factor that links their adventures, both from a human and cultural perspective: they lived from within and gave voice to the many outskirts of Milan. For all of them, it was an existential affinity rather than an ideological one, following an approach that we often find in the words of Pope Francis today. Giuseppe Frangi and Paolo Jannacci, moderated by Massimo Bernardini, will provide testimonials and memories of their interactions and friendships with Jannacci, Gaber, and Testori. The voices of Andrea Mirò, singer, and Michele Maccagno, actor, will bring to life the songs and words of these three great souls of Milan.

HEALTHCARE FOR ALL: A SYSTEM WITH AN EXPIRATION DATE?

Ore 19:00 Sala Ferrovie dello Stato B2

Giorgio Bordin, President of Medicine and Person; Raffaele Donini, Coordinator of the Health Commission of the Conference of Regions; Fabio Pammolli, Full Professor of Economics and Management, Politecnico di Milano; Orazio Schillaci, Minister of Health; Riccardo Zagaria, CEO of DOC Generici. Moderate by Carlo Lucchina, Member of the Board of Directors of the Holy Family Institute.

A friendly, subsidiary, and supportive healthcare service places the person who needs health and medical care at the center of its interest. It seeks to offer services equitably and in solidarity throughout the national territory, with reasonable accessibility in terms of time. It makes patient care a strength and adopts service proximity as an approach to meeting needs. For this, it needs fair financing, relies on well-prepared and adequately motivated professionals, guarantees access to care and therapies according to the defined needs and responds to emergencies, acute cases, and chronic conditions. It must unhesitatingly pursue the right of its citizens to be treated in the best possible way. Is this how our National Health Service is?

ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE OF CHANGE TO GROW

Ore 19:00 Sala Conai A2

In collaboration with Compagnia delle Opere.

Roberta Cocco, Member of the Board of Directors of Il Sole 24 ORE; Antonio Gozzi, President of Duferco and President of Federacciai; Marco Hannappel, President and CEO of Philip Morris Italy and President of South-Western Europe at Philip Morris International; Bernardo Mattarella, CEO of Invitalia; Francesco Seghezzi, President of the Adapt Foundation; Adolfo Urso, Minister of Enterprises and Made in Italy. Moderated by Guido Bardelli, President of Compagnia delle Opere.

Digital and ecological transitions are challenges that call us to a new way of doing business and, therefore, a rethinking of the working methods we have carried out so far. The global twin transitions are leading to critical rethinking in which we cannot help but participate. The young people who are now thirty years old have never experienced inflation, and we all lack real compasses capable of interpreting the phenomenon to the fullest. This, too, is a challenge that we cannot avoid, just like the dramatic current events of the war waged by Russia against Ukraine, which has undermined some of our certainties, starting with the peace that has dominated the European continent for seventy years. An enlightened entrepreneur is one who sets the goal of accepting the change that daily life offers and not being a passive subject of it. The world of work, especially among the younger generations, is experiencing a rethinking of priorities and objectives. The debate aims to be a moment of discussion between those who are called upon to interpret change in their actions every day, those who interpret the new labor market, and those who are at the helm of the Ministry responsible for guiding the country's development policy.

THE “PEDAGOGICAL GENIUS” OF DON GIUSSANI

Ore 12:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Carmine Di Martino, Full Professor of Moral Philosophy, University of Milan; Timothy P. O'Malley, Director of Education at the McGrath Institute for Church Life and Academic Director of the Notre Dame Center for Liturgy, University of Notre Dame; Monica Scholz-Zappa, Lecturer in Linguistic and Cultural Sciences at Albert-Ludwigs University of Freiburg. Moderated by Alberto Savorana, Head of Editorial Activities at Communion and Liberation.

In his speech on October 15, 2022, on the centenary of Luigi Giussani's birth, Pope Francis highlighted the "pedagogical and theological genius" of Luigi Giussani. The uniqueness of his expression is remarkable. While the young Giussani's unstoppable passion for communication and testimony led him to abandon the academic path and immerse himself in the educational adventure, he did not renounce the coherent development of his thinking. The novelty of his proposal, which surprised and impacted the educational world in Milan and Italy from the mid-1950s onwards, precisely relates to the originality of his thought. This thought found further development in the experience of the growing Communion and Liberation movement, which is now present in over ninety countries worldwide, and in the continuous dialogue with generations of young people (and later adults) from all walks of life. The terms of this proposal reveal their essential and prophetic character even more today.

Building on the discussions on work at the Meeting, the focus will be on the idea that investment in human capital is as crucial as, if not more than, investment in machinery. Ore 14:00 Spazio Internazionale C3

Alberto Mazzucchelli, Engineer and designer of the renovation of the AzerMonastery; Andrea Benzo, Special Envoy of MAECI (Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation) for the protection of religious freedom and interreligious dialogue; Silvio Pasero, President of Banco Building - The Bank of Things; Hady Kobeissi, Project Coordinator of AVSI in Syria. Moderated by Davide Giuliani, Journalist.

In a place where it seemed impossible, twenty years ago, a group of Trappist nuns chose Azer as their path to follow in the footsteps of the early Christian monks for their vocational journey. This humble and discreet presence, deeply connected to the local community, combines work and prayer in the tradition of Benedictine spirituality. Despite the escalating horrors of war that have ravaged the country, leaving behind death, destruction, and poverty, this monastic community has become a symbol of openness and sharing for the Syrian people. Their existence resonates with the spirit of hope for all in the region. This event delves into the nuances of the exhibition on the Azer Monastery, hosted within the International Pavilion. It narrates the story of this profound experience and how, with the support of numerous institutions, non-governmental organizations, and ordinary citizens, a faith centered on encounter and inclusivity can lay the foundation for the future. In a backdrop where the atrocities committed and the deep scars they've caused might seemingly deny the possibility of forgiveness, acceptance, and reconciliation.

THE POWER OF ALGORITHMS. HUMANITY AND THE CHALLENGE OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Ore 15:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Paolo Benanti, Professor at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome and expert in bioethics, ethics of technology, and human adaptation; Nello Cristianini, Professor of Artificial Intelligence, University of Bath. Moderated by Andrea Simoncini, Vice President of the Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS, Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Florence.

Algorithms are among us. The impact of next-generation technologies is now vast and pervasive: when we move, when we read, when we write, when we buy, when we study, when we... think, artificial intelligence systems are at work to suggest what choices to make. Without realizing it, we are experiencing the most overwhelming revolution since the time of Aristotle: we no longer ask technology to do what we have decided to do on our behalf, but rather ask it to decide for us. It is evident that this revolution has a profound impact on our humanity, but above all, it is so overwhelming because it saves us time, effort, and thought. However, the most serious mistake we could make is to imagine that these machines to which we ask to decide for us think like us. It is therefore an epochal challenge, considering that we cannot deny the extent to which these technologies are a factor of development and progress for everyone; on the other hand, it is vital that such progress and growth be critically and consciously guided by human beings. Therefore, an in-depth analysis of this crucial theme is essential at the Meeting. Returning to the Meeting to delve into this topic are two extraordinary friends: Nello Cristianini and Paolo Benanti. Nello Cristianini is one of the most important AI scientists in Europe and the world. In his recent and enlightening book "La scorciatoia", he clarifies, as a physicist-computer scientist extremely attentive to the human impact of these systems, how they work and how we should use them correctly. Paolo Benanti, a Franciscan, theologian, and member, among other things, of the Artificial Intelligence Task Force of the Agency for Digital Italy, is probably one of the best-known, competent, and respected experts in the world on the relationship between Ethics and Artificial Intelligence. His books and lectures demonstrate a formidable ability to engage with our technological contemporaneity, far from "neo-Luddite" choices but deeply rooted in the centrality of the human person.

“THE INTELLIGENCE OF FAITH BECOMES THE INTELLIGENCE OF REALITY”. THE LEGACY OF BENEDICT XVI

Ore 17:00 Auditorium isybank D3

H.E. Mons. Andrea Bellandi, Metropolitan Archbishop of Salerno-Campagna-Acerno; Aura Miguel, Journalist, Vaticanist; Andrea Torielli, Editorial Director of the Dicastery for Communication of the Holy See. Moderated by Andrea D'Auria, Director of the International Center of Communion and Liberation.

The meeting aims to offer a glimpse into the thought of Benedict XVI, particularly regarding the relationship between reason and faith. In the teaching of the Bavarian theologian, there was always a concern to show how the event of faith "reawakens the spiritual senses of man" and his capacity for knowledge. In this sense, Joseph Ratzinger is a precursor and at the same time a realizer of the magisterium of the Second Vatican Council on the theme of the human person and revelation. Mons. Bellandi's presentation will focus on Joseph Ratzinger's fundamental theology, while Andrea Torielli's intervention will illustrate what the recently deceased Pope understood as a living encounter with an ecclesial reality where it is possible to have a faith experience. Journalist Aura Miguel will recount how Benedict XVI announced faith and demonstrated its reasonableness during his apostolic journeys.

FRIENDSHIP WITH THE THEATER. GIOVANNI TESTORI ON THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS BIRTH

Ore 17:00 Sala Neri Generali

Valter Malosti, Director and performer of "Maddalene"; Andrée Ruth Shammah, Franco Parenti Theatre Cooperative; Andrea Soffiantini, Actor. Moderated by Giuseppe Frangi, Journalist, Testori House Cultural Association.

"The theater is today the only place outside of Mass where man can still defend the incarnation of Christ's word and himself as the place of this incarnation." This was a deep conviction of Testori, also shared in his relationship with Don Giussani. Testori was one of the greatest Italian playwrights of the 20th century. He went through different periods, establishing relationships with many protagonists of Italian theater, starting with Luchino Visconti. In 1973, he embarked on the exciting adventure of founding a new theater in Milan, with a great actor, Franco Parenti, and a young director, André Ruth Shammah. It is André Ruth Shammah who is the protagonist of this meeting, where she will recount 20 years of friendship and work with Testori. In 1978, the writer also started an experience of choral theater, involving the young actors of the dell'Arca Theater in Forlì. Among them is Andrea Soffiantini, for whom Testori had also written "Factum est," a text that Soffiantini still includes in his repertoire. Valter Malosti, the third protagonist of the meeting, did not know Testori personally. However, he has been one of the directors who most assiduously and creatively frequented and staged his plays, including "Maddalene," which is being performed at this edition of the Meeting at the Galli Theater.

WHAT IS CHANGING IN ITALY?

Ore 17:00 Sala Conai A2

Dialogue with Alfredo Mantovano, Undersecretary of State for the Presidency of the Council of Ministers. Introduced by Emmanuele Forlani, Director of the Foundation Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS.

We are going through an era of change that affects all areas of public and private life. The years of the pandemic have brought to the forefront issues and problems that were often overlooked. The energy crisis, climate change, migratory emergencies, the rapid development of artificial intelligence and its associated challenges, and the emergence of "new" rights are topics that are being discussed at all levels. In this context, we are approaching one year since the establishment of a new government, and we are heading towards a path that will lead to the renewal of political representation in Europe. Where is our country heading? How has the government's policies been evaluated and developed based on intervention criteria? What is the role of different levels of public administration, civil society, and so-called intermediate bodies? We will engage in dialogue with Hon. Alfredo Mantovano, Undersecretary to the Presidency of the Council, whose office is responsible for all major activities and issues concerning national politics.

WHEN PEACE AND UNITY ARE POSSIBLE: THE TESTIMONY OF BLESSED JOSÉ GREGORIO HERNÁNDEZ

Interest in and devotion to the figure of this doctor of the poor has grown exponentially in recent years in Venezuela and throughout Latin America. An inspirational model to look up to even today, at a time when war has made a powerful comeback in the heart of Europe and in so many other regions of the world.

DEMOGRAPHY AND BIRTH RATE

Ore 19:00 Sala Neri Generali

Gian Carlo Blangiardo, Former President of Istat, Statistician, and Professor of Demography at the University of Milano-Bicocca; Adriano Bordignon, National President of the Forum of Family Associations; Matteo Rizzolli, Professor of Economic Policy, LUMSA University; Eugenia Roccella, Minister for Family, Birth Rate, and Equal Opportunities; Giuseppe Zola, Vice President of the Nonni 2.0 Association. Moderated by Lorenza Violini, Professor of Constitutional Law, University of Milan.

By combining ethical, political, and statistical perspectives, the meeting establishes connections between the problems that arise for the development of democracy when a country's birth rate reaches levels that make fundamental elements of the system unsustainable as a whole, not just those related to the pension system. These elements will be highlighted in the various reports to raise awareness of the seriousness of the current situation and to outline some possible solutions.

THE CHALLENGE OF A MORE NATURAL LIFE

Ore 19:00 Sala Ferrovie dello Stato B2

Moderated by Antonio Ballarin Denti, President of the Scientific Committee of the Lombardy Foundation for the Environment.

"The Canticle of the Creatures" serves as a cultural reflection on the relationship between humans and nature. The event will present different experiences that challenge the conventional understanding of the relationship between humans and nature. In the face of major problems, an integral perspective is needed. The perspective of St. Francis on creation, which inspired Pope Francis' encyclical, may provide insight into the true relationship between humans and nature.

DON CAMILLO AND PEPPONE, ALWAYS RIVALS, NEVER ENEMIES!

Ore 19:00 Sala Conai A2

Egidio Bandini, Journalist and President of the "Gruppo Amici di Giovannino Guareschi"; Enrico Beruschi, Director and Actor; Gianni Govi, Actor and Director; Giancarlo Plessi, President of the "Centro Manfredini" in Piacenza; Eugenio Martani, Clarinetist; Corrado Medioli, Accordionist.

"Giovannino Guareschi wrote: 'Two fierce adversaries fight each other without ever becoming enemies because they listen to the voice of their conscience (Christ).' These few words by Guareschi are enough to express the essence of our meeting at the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli in 2023: 'Don Camillo and Peppone, always rivals, never enemies!' The two protagonists of the most famous Italian literary and cinematic saga of the 20th century represent, better than any other example, the true meaning of friendship, surpassing any barrier, be it ideological, religious, or social. Side by side, the world's most famous parish priest and mayor, guided by the voice of Christ, face together the challenges of life, both their own and that of their community. About his two most well-known (and loved) characters, Guareschi wrote: 'Don Camillo and Peppone hate each other with love!'"

IL CONFINE DELLA SPERANZA

"Il confine della Speranza" is a Christmas story filmed between Gaza and Bethlehem, on the fragile thread of those who experience the drama of a permanent conflict, lack of freedom, and separation from loved ones, without losing hope born and renewed in the grotto of Bethlehem. For many Christians who have fled from the most heavily fortified and densely populated strip of land in the world, which has been a war zone for over 15 years, Gaza-Bethlehem is a one-way journey. Special and temporary permits are required to exit the Israeli checkpoint. Those who decide to move to other Palestinian cities live suspended and divided from their families for years.

THE CHORUS SINGS ADRIANA

Ore 21:00 Auditorium isybank D3

"To meet the Other, every encounter with every other that is a sign of that Other, is a song." With these words, Adriana Mascagni defined what an inexhaustible friendship is for her. A friendship that, thanks to her vocation for composing and directing the GS choir for twenty-five years, has always been accompanied by singing. For Adriana, her songs were not "hers," but everyone's because singing together with a purpose is the highest pinnacle of friendship. This is not a concert in memory of Adriana but an opportunity, through her songs, to still be together among friends. The concert will be performed by a selection of the "Adriana Choir" and an instrumental ensemble and vocals for her most popular songs dedicated to the characters of the nativity scene ("Thank you, Lord," "There's no one," "Snowy Air," "Song of St. Joseph," etc.). The songs will be interspersed with readings of short introductory passages and projections of images from the history of "our" friendship. The involvement of the public is also planned.

Adrien Candiard, Member of the Dominican Institute for Oriental Studies (IDEO), writer, author of Qualche parola prima dell'apocalisse (Lev); Oliver Roy, Professor of Political Science at the European University Institute in Fiesole, Director of the ReligioWest project, author of L'Aplatissement du monde: La crise de la culture et l'empire des normes (Seuil), to be released in 2024 by Feltrinelli. Moderated by Marco Bardazzi, Journalist.

In our time, we face a profound crisis of culture from which it seems difficult to escape. The lack of a common cultural foundation, within an increasingly simplified and impoverished lexical context, makes it necessary to explicitly express everything in order to peacefully coexist among different sensibilities. Multiple criteria (gender pronouns, the massive and constant use of emoticons to better represent the meaning of words) are employed to regulate interpersonal communication, out of fear of offending others' sensibilities. In the virtual and self-referential world of the Internet, interpersonal relationships, instead of being direct (disintermediated?), lack humanity. In this general flattening, the implicit cannot exist, and everything must be categorized, recognized, and publicly declared, without the possibility of implications. To reaffirm our humanity and gradually rebuild a culture in crisis, a process of self-reappropriation is necessary. From here arises a quest for truth about oneself and the world, about the nature and purpose of relationships between people. We constantly seek to attribute meaning to the events that happen to us; we could almost say we strive to discover the truth. This also reflects in the greater History: we desire to know the direction in which we are heading, we need a revelation so that everything that happens does not become distressing. An intriguing dialogue with two extraordinary protagonists of our time.

Introduced by Lorenza Violini, Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Milan. Moderated by Roberto Incicchi, Journalist.

The demands made by certain regions to obtain greater powers have triggered a broader debate on the institutional structure of our state, particularly regarding the implementation of social rights and essential levels of services that must be established by the State in agreement with the regions. What is the role of the State, and what is the role of regional and local authorities in implementing constitutional values? How can a new institutional architecture be designed based on the loyal collaboration between the State and the regions? How can we make our welfare state more efficient, enabling it to provide concrete responses to people's needs?

This dialogue aims to explore the "behind the scenes" of a broad collective project called "Parola ai giovani", born in 2022 from the idea of Sicilian singer-songwriter Giovanni Caccamo, a student of Franco Battiato. Young people under 35 were invited to reflect on key words through which they tried to give voice to their vision of changing the world. Believing that words are seeds that bear fruit and that there is no future without roots, Micol Forti, together with Giovanni Caccamo, involved some of the most renowned Italian artists, representing the older generations, challenging them to transform one of the selected words into a work of art. In October 2023, the artworks created by the artists will be auctioned to raise funds in support of the mission "Empowering People and Communities" of the Andrea Bocelli Foundation, a philanthropic organization.

In the second episode of the Talk organized by the Foundation for Subsidiarity, the main issue of today's job market is addressed, which is the problem faced by young people. There is a mismatch between the education provided and the needs of businesses, non-competitive salaries, and uncertain career paths. An increasing number of young men and women are leaving Italy in search of better opportunities abroad. There is a lack of ability to fully appreciate the potential of young people who come to our country, and there is also a lack of attractiveness for foreign talents.

They are disoriented, lonely, demotivated, and often their struggle leads to more or less serious pathologies.

They face educational and cultural poverty without having the necessary tools to ensure themselves a fulfilling life opportunity. Let's start from the discomfort of children and young people, and let's not remain indifferent to their request, more or less explicit, for listening. What are the encounters that can help them regain meaning, motivation, and value? What proposals can fascinate them and put them back at the center, as protagonists, of their growth? We will discuss this with experts who have been working alongside them for many years and have witnessed changing approaches and needs.

LEADERS, BUT WE DON'T KNOW IT. CLINICAL RESEARCH IN ITALY

Ore 19:00 Sala Ferrovie dello Stato B2

Paola Burioli, Romagnolo Institute for the Study of Tumors Dino Amadori (IRCCS); Maria Chiara Carrozza, President of the National Research Council (CNR); Marcello Cattani, President of Farmindustria; Franco Locatelli, President of the Superior Health Council; Carlo Nicora, Vice President of the Italian Federation of Health and Hospital Companies (FIASO), General Director of the National Cancer Institute in Milan. Moderated by Mattia Altini, President of the Italian Society of Leadership and Management in Medicine (SIMM), Director of Hospital Care in the Emilia-Romagna Region.

In a healthcare system of great value and still universal, financial tensions and the planned post-Covid funding are risking undermining medium-term sustainability, exacerbating inequalities and territorial differences. This event is an opportune moment to ask whether data analysis and the structuring of the competitive model of clinical research can provide a key to understanding the development and sustainability of the country's system. In particular, these elements could be used to promote collaboration between the academic and industrial worlds: in this way, clinical research could once again become a clear and fundamental driver of development.

THE "BEHIND THE SCENES" OF THE ENERGY CRISIS: WHAT SCENARIO AWAITS US?

With coal abandoned and the largest gas supplier "abandoned," European countries are facing serious difficulties, making it inevitable for our country, in line with the objectives set by the European Union, to reduce its dependence on fossil fuels. This requires investments in network infrastructure and renewables. Therefore, a discussion on how to recalibrate energy policy, possibly at the European level, is appropriate, identifying a strategy for energy security and supply that, starting from new infrastructures increasingly capable of accommodating "green" capacities, cannot promptly do without programmable energy sources. A focus on the Italian energy system.

FRATERNITY AS A POLITICAL CATEGORY. A NEW PARADIGM OF EDUCATION

Ore 21:00 Sala Conai A2

Ciro Cafiero, Labor law expert; Alessandra Luna Navarro, Assistant Professor in Façade Design and Engineering, Università di TU Delft; Francesco Occhetta, Secretary General of the Pontifical Foundation Fratelli tutti. Brief interventions by Tommaso Galeotto and Giulia Milani. Moderated by Giorgio Vittadini, President of the Foundation for Subsidiarity.

Building a justice system based on restoration, creating new models for the world of work, and addressing climate change are just a few of the major challenges our society must face. These challenges cannot be overcome alone. Pope Francis, in his encyclical "Fratelli Tutti," has pointed out a path: placing fraternity at the center of our actions and relationships. It is possible to build new models of politics and society oriented in this way, but it requires starting from education. For over ten years, the Comunità di Conessioni has provided young people in our country with a place of education that tackles the challenges of society and politics, rethinking political concepts and placing fraternity and human dignity at the center.

When the atomic bomb is dropped on Nagasaki, he loses his wife, and his house is completely pulverized. On the last page of his autobiography, he writes: "What had to perish had perished. What had to die had died... When I realized that I had worked my whole life for something that had turned to ashes, I was devastated. A life for ashes! I could not bear a senseless life! I had to find what does not perish. I had to cling to what never dies." His life is the story of this Friendship, which manifests through his affection and relationship with his wife Midori and his friendship with the descendants of Nagasaki's "hidden Christians," leading him to discover "what never dies." Despite being immobilized by illness in a small wooden hut, Takashi Nagai becomes an inspiring and influential figure throughout Japan.

LIVING UNIVERSE. SCIENTIFIC INQUIRY AND THE MEANING OF NATURE

Ore 13:00 Sala Neri Generali

Marco Bersanelli, Full Professor of Astrophysics, Department of Physics, University of Milan; Giorgio Dieci, Full Professor of Molecular Biology, University of Parma. Moderated by Paola Platania, Researcher at the Institute for Plasma Science and Technology, CNR, Milan.

The word "nature" refers, in its etymology, to being generated, to birth and sprouting. By studying the phenomenon of life, scientific inquiry has revealed surprising scenarios in which the mutual recognition between finely constructed macromolecules allows for the emergence of signs and meanings in the universe. Quantitatively almost insignificant, the living component appears, at first glance, irrelevant in the cosmic framework. On the other hand, the entire history of the universe – from the formation of structures to stellar evolution and planetary formation – with the contribution of all fundamental forces, is an integral part of the conditions for the awakening of a living nature, until it becomes conscious of itself.

Liberal democracy is under attack. It is not only external enemies such as despots and illiberal autocrats who threaten it, but also the internal contradictions of the system, which are becoming increasingly evident. The model that seemed to be the inevitable destiny of every civilization after the Cold War is now on trial. The deepest accusation is that liberal democracy places a partial conception of human freedom at the center of its universe.

Hence, it is crucial that a system built on circular economy principles protects and enhances this resource for the well-being and sustainable development of our beloved planet. This issue is not only highly relevant but also urgent. It requires concrete action at the economic, cultural, and social levels. Water must be at the forefront of development, particularly when considering Italy, its geographical location, and above all, its vocation. The need to make the state machinery more efficient by defining its institutional architecture is always on the agenda. Over the years, various reform proposals have been put forward, ranging from the elimination of perfect bicameralism to presidentialism, to differentiated autonomy of regions. These latter two proposals, in particular, are currently of great relevance. The Parliamentary Intergroup for Subsidiarity, as inherent to its nature, aims to contribute through a free exchange of ideas among different political affiliations.

The Covid-19 pandemic has highlighted the importance of healthcare systems in promoting and improving the population's health. The pandemic, along with various other current challenges such as the economic sustainability of healthcare systems and the shortage of healthcare professionals, is putting the foundational principles of modern healthcare systems (universal access, solidarity, and equity) to a severe test, and consequently, their role within society. Where do we start in addressing these challenges? Could charity be the fundamental criterion on which to rethink the future of healthcare? This meeting provides an opportunity to delve into these issues that affect and concern everyone, not just professionals in the field.

Moderated by Andrea Simoncini, Vice President of the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS, Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Florence.

"Hic sunt leones." This is what the ancient cartographers wrote to indicate unknown lands where no one had set foot. The same could be said of the unknown land that is the metaverse for us today, or rather, virtual reality. The transition to web 3.0, virtual reality, and possible metaverses - not just Zuckerberg's - from a two-dimensional perception (as we experience with computers and phones today) to a 3D experience (with headsets and wearables) are transformations that require us to ask what space there will be for humans in such a world. Under what conditions will this new world be an extension and enhancement of our capabilities, or will it represent the definitive capture of freedom? Luciano Violante, emeritus president of the Chamber of Deputies, has been questioning this future for many years through the research and experimentation conducted by the Leonardo Foundation, of which he is President. It is thanks to him that it is possible to organize a unique event in the panorama of debates and discussions on these topics at the Meeting. For the first time in the history of the Meeting, we will discuss the future and metaverses... within the metaverse! Through collaboration with Massimiliano Nicolini, director of the R&D Department of Olimaint, it will be possible - for those who wish - to participate in the meeting and the discussion within the Rimini Fair, attending in person but also experiencing the "life" in virtual reality by using headsets and creating personal avatars, interacting with others present and thus experiencing both positive possibilities and risks. Another well-known guest of the Meeting, Roberto Battiston, physicist, former President of the Italian Space Agency, scientist, intellectual, and protagonist of the Italian cultural debate, who recently opened a public discussion on the future of humans in these new technological scenarios, has been invited to dialogue in the metaverse with Luciano Violante and Massimiliano Nicolini.

FRODO'S MISSION: INDIVIDUAL AND COMMUNITY IN THE LORD OF THE RINGS. 50 YEARS AFTER TOLKIEN'S DEATH

Ore 21:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Giuseppe Pezzini, Professor at Corpus Christi College, Oxford; Paolo Proserpi, Priest, Fraternità San Carlo Borromeo.

In The Lord of the Rings, the characters are called to embrace a mission that is first and foremost individual, including Frodo's mission to carry the Ring alone to Mount Doom and become the great hobbit hero of the Third Age. At the same time, Frodo's mission has implications for the good of all and would not be conceivable without his friendship with Sam and Gandalf, and more generally without the Fellowship of the Ring that accompanies him. These two dimensions - individual and communal - are not in opposition in Tolkien's work but are two indispensable poles of the same experience, like two strands of the same narrative DNA (the 'mission' in its various semantic meanings). To divide and oppose them is a constant temptation in human history, which necessarily generates violence, as demonstrated by the great ideologies of the 20th century (communism and individualism in their various forms). On the 50th anniversary of Tolkien's death, there will be a dialogue about one of the key paradoxes of The Lord of the Rings, which also explains much of its charm and prophetic content.

Day by day, newspapers keep us informed about events and developments, both near and far, through their information, stories, interpretations, and comments. Their impact on everyone's daily life and the country as a whole is difficult to measure but undoubtedly strong and influential. With the advent of television and now the exponential spread of social media, they have remained privileged interlocutors for the understanding of political, economic, and cultural life. How do they conceive their role in public debate, their responsibility for democracy and pluralism? What specific orientation do they propose to their readers? And what forms of self-criticism do they employ?

GOOD WORK IS A FRIENDSHIP THAT BUILDS

Ore 15:00 Sala Neri Generali

In collaboration with Cdo Opere Sociali.

Moderated by Stefano Gheno, President of Cdo Opere Sociali.

In a context of profound transformations, often characterized by great challenges, the intertwining of work, personal development, and the generation of the common good, which plays a central role, seems to be decreasing in relevance in the collective perception. Therefore, we want to recover this centrality starting from the testimonies of those who, even in difficult conditions both individually and socially, find in work an essential place for the development of a solidarity that is not merely assistential but generative.

It brings together transformative perspectives and the experience of those who believe in a new way of teaching and supporting the key players in the education process.

Marco Bezzecchi, Pilot of the Mooney VR46 Racing Team; Andrea Corsini, Councilor for Mobility and Transport, Infrastructure, Tourism, and Commerce of Emilia-Romagna. Moderated by Federico Aliverti, Director of Motociclismo magazine and commentator for Sky.

What goes through the mind and heart of a young rider who has grown up rapidly, to the point of competing for victory every Saturday and Sunday in the premier class of motorcycle racing, MotoGP, with machines that reach speeds of over 360 km/h? And how important is the desire to win, as well as fairness and sportsmanship towards lifelong friends, those with whom you train and who then become your main competitors in the race, in order to achieve the hoped-for success? Federico Aliverti, the Director of Motociclismo magazine and a Sky commentator, conducts a comprehensive interview with Marco Bezzecchi, the rider of the Mooney VR46 Racing Team, and Andrea Corsini, the Assessor for Mobility and Transport of Emilia Romagna.

A FULL-FLEDGED FRIENDSHIP. A SOLIDARITY THAT REBUILDS

Ore 17:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Testimonials from Lorenzo Bernardi, Responsible for Comunione Liberazione Lugo; Don Leonardo Poli, Parish Priest in Lugo; Veronica Missoni, Forlì.

The devastating flood that hit vast areas of Romagna in May represents an extraordinary phenomenon, not only from a climatic point of view. The numerous testimonies that have emerged since the early moments of the flood until today have shown an unimaginable capacity for fraternity, welcoming, and solidarity. Rebuilding together is possible, not as a result of a slogan, but as the discovery of a fact that cannot leave anyone indifferent and that has touched the heart of an entire country. We will discuss this with the protagonists: institutions, the business community, and families.

ALDO MORO, YOUTH, AND US: A LIVING FRIENDSHIP

Ore 17:00 Sala Neri Generali

Saverio Allevato, Former responsible for Catholic popular movements in Rome; Agostino Giovagnoli, Historian; Agnese Moro, Journalist and daughter of Aldo Moro. Introduced by Salvatore Taormina, Cultural Editorial Board of the Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli. Moderated by Angelo Picariello, Journalist of Avvenire and author of "Un'azalea in via Fani" (Ed. San Paolo).

Aldo Moro (1916-1978) is an extraordinarily significant figure in the history of the Italian Republic, but the "wound" caused by his kidnapping and the collective failure to rescue him from an unjust death often perpetuate an additional injustice, limiting his memory to those dramatic 55 days. After 45 years, finally freeing him from that "imprisonment" allows us to discuss topics of great relevance through his life, which emphasizes the centrality of the individual (a key characteristic of our Constitution) and the constant commitment to unity and the positive aspects of reality. Moro's concept of politics as service to the common good never prevented him from devoting time to his students and young people, especially during the turbulent years of the Protest Movement, in which he maintained an assiduous and discreet relationship with some students and priests from the Communion and Liberation community in Rome. This approach to politics also made him a great protagonist in peace initiatives and dialogue during the height of the Cold War.

SEEDS OF HOPE IN FORGOTTEN PLACES

Ore 19:00 Auditorium isybank D3

Alissar Caracalla, Director of the Orientalist Dance Company and Caracalla School of Dance, Lebanon; Marta Luisa Fagnani, Mother Superior of the Trappist Monastery in Azeir, Syria; Roger Wawa, Director of Radio Maria Congo. Moderated by Bernhard Scholz, President of the Fondazione Meeting per l'amicizia fra i popoli ETS.

There are places deeply marked by violence, illness, and suffering that seem to be without hope. Occasionally, they appear on our screens when particularly atrocious acts or devastating catastrophes come to light, only to fade away into oblivion. Yet, it is precisely in these abandoned places that we find people who refuse to be defined by even the harshest conditions but live with the certainty of an unconditional friendship capable of sowing seeds of hope in the deserts of inhumanity.
